ARE YOU GUILTY?

During the three months of school the students have been changing classes. Each time students go to a new class they use someone elses desk. Many of the students are complaining that people are using their desk for a trash can. There are waste baskets in every room in which to put your trash. If you are using the desk instead of the trash can you are acting like a little child.

Many of the desk are being written on and pencils and pens are being stolen. If you write on peoples desk and take their pencils you are being thoughtless and inconsiderate. People who do these things are not growing up but instead are behaving as little children. Are you guilty of this? Have you heard of the rule DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU?

VISTA PEOPLE VISIT WRANGELL

Just recently, four people from various places in the United States were here. They were: Mrs. Margaret Broken, from Florida; Miss Kathleen Goggin, from Minnesota, Mrs. Wayne Hering, from New Jersey; and Mr. Dutch Smith, from Illinois. They are called Vista people because they are trying to learn how native people live in Alaska. They are also trying to get used to living like Alaskan natives.

These people are on their training period. They have spent two weeks here at the Institute and one week in town. They have learned a lot from the teachers, parents, and children. The Vista people seem to be enjoying everything. It has been a pleasure to have them here at the Institute.

Who's Who?

Linda Hadley

Can you guess who this girl is? She is very tall and slender and probably has the right build for a model.

She is usually seen with her sister G. R. and two of her girlfriends A. P. and R. K. This girl comes from Minto, Alaska.

WHO DO YOU THINK SHE IS????

What about this boy? He is very attractive and you will often see him walking around with B. B. Like most of the boys his favorite sport is probably basketball.

He is about 5 feet 2 inches in height, or, maybe shorter. He is also a member of the Student Council and comes from Tatitlek, Alaska.

WHO DO YOU THINK HE IS????

STUDENTS RECEIVE GIFT

A very interesting book titled, The Alaska Book, was recently presented to the students and staff of Wrangell Institute. There are many worthwhile articles in the book, but one of special importance is "Alaska: Forty-ninth State" by Senator Ernest Gruening.

It is well to note, too, that many entries in this book were taken from the magazine "The Alaska Sportsman." These are some of the articles to be enjoyed from among many others by people noted for information on Alaska.

The students and staff extend their thanks to Mr. & Mrs. Doran Beitz of Juneau for this wonderful gift.

ENGLISH CLASSES ENJOY PRACTICAL ENGLISH

In English we are working in Practical English. In the magazine there are many interesting stories to read. We also work on "Practice Makes Perfect" which is given after the stories.

We get grades from working in these P.E. magazines just as we do in our regular assignments. It's really interesting to work in these magazines, and it's always fun working the puzzles.

CAR HAD ACCIDENT

On Thanksgiving Day the students saw a car overturn in the graveyard. It was the first time some of them had seen an accident. The car itself was on its side and had probably skidded off the road. The driver was reported to have an injured back. The ambulance was rushed to the scene. Everyone hopes that the injured boy is back on his feet once again.

ARTICLES FOR SCHOOL PAPER

Every month the students of Wrangell Institute write articles for the school paper.

The school paper is sent to the students parents and to the school they first attended.

Some articles are very interesting to read. Some articles are about what has happened the past month and what's going on around the Institute.

The school paper needs your thoughts and ideas. So write an article about something that's interesting and read it in the next monthly school paper.

THE BOY AND THE DOOR

This story comes from a country where the custom was for the shopkeepers to go their customers. One day the shopkeeper left his shop to take articles to the king. He told the boy that worked at the shop not to leave the door. When the shopkeeper returned the boy was standing down the street watching a man doing tricks with the shop door in his hands.

It is important not only to listen to instructions but also to think carefully as they are carried out.

VISTA WORKERS VISIT INSTITUTE

Recently there has been a group of volunteer workers from the lower 48 states. They were sent up here to help improve the living of the natives of Alaska. They will be sent to different villages in a few weeks. There have been four of these people out at the Institute. Two would be out here at a time. Some of these people are young and some are older. They are well educated and will be a great help to the native villages.

THERE IS MUCH TO LEARN AT WRANGELL

Here at Wrangell we learn a lot. Our teachers help us to learn more. They try their very best to teach us all. They tell us lot of things we have never heard of before. Sometimes they get annoyed if we don't listen to them but later they forget. We all go to a nice school where we learn a lot. Today we are having a lot of fun in school. Wrangell is a very good place to learn a lot.

....Harry Mandregan

SECTION CHANGE IN GIRLS' DORM

On Thanksgiving Day, The aids supervised the change of sections in the girls' dorm. Many girls have been separated from their friends. This change is for only three months. Then, if we have lived by the rules, we can choose our own section and section-mates.

We cannot go into another girl's section because we might make too much work for those that live in the section. We can visit in the rec room instead. So obey the rules and you will choose your own section and section-mates for the last three months.

....Margaret Ahmaogak

SECTION CHANGE FOR BOYS

The boys had their section change on the day the first semester ended. They chose for themselves whether or not they wanted to move. Most of the boys chose to move with their buddies, but some boys decided to stay in their former sections and let their pals move in with them. The section change was fun and it worked out all right, but it was pretty noisy for several days after lights were out.

There might be another section change when January rolls around. Sure hope so!

WE STUDY HARD AT WRANGELL

Here at Wrangell we are preparing ourselves for other schools like Mt. Edgecumbe or Chemawa.

We are reviewing lots of work before we use higher books, like 9th grade. If we get the things they teach us, we'll be able to go into higher books. This will be good.

We have to really study hard for our own benefit. Once we start to think hard on what we are learning we'll really get to it and we'll know all the things we learned. We'll be better prepared for other schools we will be going to next. The teachers aren't being mean to us. They are really helping us here at Wrangell. Everybody should appreciate what they are doing for us here at Wrangell.

CHRISTMAS AT WRANGELL WILL BE A JOYOUS TIME

MY LIFE AS A PENCIL

By Ronald Pletnikoff

One day in the year of 1964 I was made in a huge Venus Forum pencil factory. It didn't take long to make me in one of those big machines that the men use to make a thousand or more pencils like me every day. After I was made I was put into a box, ready to be sent where they would need me.

One day I felt the box move. It was horrible!! I was bumping against many other pencils in the box. Later it was still against each other. We were being taken away to a school where the people would use us in their important work. Again we were bumping against each other. Then it was still. We went in a storage room in the school where it was dark and damp. We stayed there for about two weeks before we were shaken up and bumping against each other again. Then in about ten minutes we saw light again. It was good to see light after such a long time in that box.

I was taken up by the body of me and given to a boy. He took me over to my worst enemy which is the pencil sharpener. I was put into the hole and ground up until I was pointed at one end.

On the top of me is a medal thing which holds rubber eraser to me. That is the part which hurts me next to the sharpening part. When anyone makes a mistake, they would turn me around and rub that end across the paper to erase their mistakes.

Sometimes during the day I get thrown around by the boy. He would throw me against the wall and sometimes drop me on the floor. This would hurt me very badly.

After I was used for a few weeks I was thrown in the waste paper can. Later I was thrown on a huge thing with four wheels. This thing gave me a short ride to the dump yard. I was really surprised when I fell out of that thing and of all that trash came tumbling down over me. The flames are getting closer. It looks like this is the end of my life.

MY LIFE AS A BLACKBOARD

By Martha Milligrock

I am a green board, though they call me a blackboard. I don't know why. It just sounds better I guess. I am about 4 feet tall and 8 feet wide. Most people would consider me fat, nailed up on the west side of the classroom.

Each night I was washed after school. Of course that was because I was written on each day. Some children would run their fingernails across my face. I did not like it the least bit. It would make my skin crawl from end to end, though no one knew it because it was like a vibration to them.

I saw children work five days a week at the desks, but some would play and I bet those that played around didn't get very good grades. I saw and heard the noisy class changes too. In some classes feet would be shuffling in impatience to get out when the bell rang. I saw them open and shut their binders, heard them clicking and paper rustling. I heard talking too, but most of it was done by the teacher.

Paper was put over my face to make a bulletin board. Now I cannot see anything and no one washes my face anymore. No one runs his fingernails across my face anymore. That's what I like about it. But when the teacher pins up papers the pins stick me. Oh, how they hurt!

I hope some day, before the children leave for home, the paper will be taken off so that I may see the students again. When it does come off, I hope they won't run their fingernails across my face. I hope that teacher will never again stick another pin in my face. (The paper has been taken off my face, a happy day!)

MY LIFE AS A DESK

By Gloria Riley

Someone comes in and drops a pile of books on me after a nice long peaceful night. After awhile I feel a pencil starting to write on me. I hear the scratching sound of the pencil and books moving about. Pretty soon someone starts pounding on me as if I were a drum. Then someone puts his elbow on me to rest. Some times someone even sits on me. I get so tired and my legs start getting wobbly. Then some kind of a carpenter comes along and fixes my legs so they are nice and strong again.

I dislike after school because some one is always hitting my legs with the broom when they sweep the floor. They also slam me against my neighbors when they push me around. Sometimes my neighbors would get mad at me and I would have to apologize to them. In another way I do like after school because everyone takes all the books off of me and out of me, and I don't have much weight to carry.

When someone puts his autograph on me, someone always comes along and erase it. If they get caught by the teacher they have to give me a bath. I really enjoy this. I also enjoy the week ends when no one bothers me for a couple of days.

When I get old and my legs are no longer strong I get put away in the attic or put in the dumb.

CHEERLEADERS SELECTED

The girls who won the try-outs for cheer leaders were Ross Prince, Stella Sheldon, Balassa Nick, Elizabeth Goodwin, Marsha Peterson, Gloria Riley, Leonella Fratis and Linda Hadley.

The cheerleaders for A Squad are Rose, Stella, Balassa and Elizabeth.

The J.V. or B Squad cheerleaders are Gloria, Linda, Marsha and Leonella.

We all hope the girls do a good job cheering for our Eagles.

MY LIFE AS A DESK

By Rosina Pete

I am a long rectangular desk I am not as old as you may think. Sometimes the kids using me can get real careless and mean. They scratch on me with bobby pins and write on me with so called pencils, but I think the pins and bobby pins hurt more.

Maybe they think I have a short memory. I can remember your ancestors and know them better than you do. Some kids stick their gum on my edges and just leave garbage in my mouth. Also I surely can get dirty too, when girls and boys write on me or are too lazy to even wash me. I also get deep cuts, too from boy's pocket knives.

I have many friends and they are of the book and pencil families. Every day I meet someone new. Every night I have some books that are left to stay with me.

I know a lot of students and they are not alike. Some kids are mean and dirty but some kids are kind and neat. Well, good-bye and I hope you treat me better after my story. Just think if you didn't have me you would have no place to keep your books or a place to write. Please be kind to me and help keep me neat and clean.

A-SQUAD MEETS WRANGELL J.V. 'S

The Institute A-Squad team played the Wrangell High J.V.'s Friday and Saturday Nights. The Institute lost both games, but the boys did a swell job, and we're very proud of them. All the students know the boys will try and do their best next time. The next game will be played in town on December 10th and 11th.

The B-Squad cheerleaders cheered for them both nights and did a great job. The students that were at the game helped them along, and the cheering turned out real fine.

In the following games to come this winter the students will try to help the team do better by cheering the boys along.

Hi everybody,

Guess what? There are new desks in Mrs. Gillespie's room. They were put in December 7, 1965. You can't write on them. You have to take good care of the new desks.

Christmas is right around the corner. Hope you have a very Happy Christmas this year and a Happy New Year.

CLEANLINESS WILL PAY OFF

Last week a girl went to the hospital. She is 15 years old. She is quite nice. Right now she is in the town hospital. She has a stomach illness. All students should try to keep themselves as clean as possible. You should use your own towel, own cup, etc. If you don't, some where down the line, you will catch or pick up a disease, or you might end up in the hospital.

AGAIN! Use your own towels, soap, cups, etc. It is certain you don't want to get sick.

....Veronica Peterson

BEAUTICIANS BEAUTIFY GIRLS

For the past two weeks several girls have been going into town to get their hair styled. Seventeen girls have had their hair cut and styled. The first Saturday the cheerleaders went. The cheerleaders got their hair cut, washed, pinned up, and styled. This really helps the girls to know how they should fix their hair. Many more girls plan to go to the beauty parlor.

VENTRILLOQUIST COMES TO INSTITUTE

On November 28, Sunday afternoon, about 3:00 p.m., a man came here to entertain, all the Institute kids. He showed some slides about animals up north in Alaska and some northern lights. After he finished showing slides, he brought out a dummy he called "Alkaline Ike." This man was a ventriloquist, and he seemed like he wasn't talking at all, but he was talking for the dummy, "Alkaline Ike."

They asked questions, sang and teased some people and then they said, "Good-bye."

Some people stayed after all the children had left the gym.

One boy asked the man if he threw his voice and the man, Mr. Robinson, said that he doesn't throw his voice all he does is change his voice.

Here is hoping this man or another ventriloquist comes around again sometimes soon.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL INTERESTING

Intramural basketball games are fun here at Wrangell. We are playing against a team. Each team has a name and a captain. We play games Saturday afternoons.

Mr. Merritt is our instructor. Each team plays at least 45 minutes. Then the other two teams fight to win each game.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING

Two more weeks until Christmas. Christmas is the day Jesus was born. He was born in Bethlehem. Jesus' mother is named Mary. When he was born on Christmas Eve the star shone on the place where he was lying. The Three Kings came with gifts in their hands. They gave them to Jesus' mother for Jesus. There were shepherds that were watching. The bright star shine brightly down. The sky was pretty and blue.

SEWING IS FUN

The girls in homemaking classes are busy making pleated skirts without using a pattern. Before stretching her skirt, each girl had to study about the parts of a machine, how to thread it, and how to use it. The skirts have to be finished within two weeks. It is lots of fun sewing and making things in homemaking.

Christmas Secrets, by Bayard Hooper (Pantheon Books): When Pammy and Carolyn saw Santa Claus on a street corner a week before Christmas they were surprised. They were wondering why Santa Claus was here when he should be at the North Pole packing toys into his sleigh. They think that he is not real. They get so mad because he is trying to dress like Santa and be him that Pammy goes up to him and pulls his beard. It didn't come off. What should she do if Santa was mad at her? He probably won't bring her any presents. Pammy was so scared because of what she had done she swore Carolyn to secrecy. One secret led to another until Christmas morning. By that time each girl had learned a lesson that she would never forget.

Cherry Ames Student Nurse, by Helen Wells (New York Grosset and Dunlap): Cherry Ames, an 18 year old girl with jet black hair and shiny black eyes, decides she wants to become a student nurse. She goes away from home to be trained. She soon meets Ann Evans, Bertha Larsen and Gwen Jones. They all become very close friends.

After four months of schooling, Cherry learns that she is assigned to ward four with Josie Franklin. Gwen, Ann, and Bertha are on ward 17. When Cherry & Josie go to the ward, Miss Baker, the head nurse on ward four, comes to meet them and show them around. Cherry & Josie hope to help by giving shots or something but Cherry ends up in the kitchen and Josie has to get clean towels.

After they were off duty Cherry told Josie that she had to go to the sewing room and shorten her apron. Since the sewing room was so well equipped it took her no longer than five minutes to finish. When she was passing a private room she thought she heard a small voice yelling for help.

She ran to the head nurse's desk but she was not there. She ran back to the private room but she found it locked. What should she do? Someone might be dying. Should she break the door down???

REPORTS

DO YOU KNOW?

How often have you been rewarded for knowing the answer to something? Remember the high grade you got on a test because you knew most or all of the answers. Remember the baskets you made in the ball game because you knew what to do with the ball. Remember how you helped your family by knowing how to trap an animal or shoot a deer.

On the hand, how often have you been disappointed because you did not know the answer to something? Remember the tests you failed, the baskets you missed, or the family's disappointment because you didn't bring home any animals. Not so pleasant, is it?

Do you know what to do incase of fire or in case of a nuclear blast? Do you know how to live off the land if you are ever stranded? Do you know how to care for an injured person or even yourself? Do you know what type of work you want to do when you get out of school? Do you know how to save money for yourself and your family?

It would be worth your time to know these things. Your life would depend on many of them. Someday you may be called upon to know.

The Student Council is sponsoring the New Year's dance. The boy's dorm council and the girl's dorm council will assist in decorating the gym. The Student Council has purchased new records and have ordered decorations and favors for the dance. The older students get to see the old year out and the new year in, but the younger children will leave a little earlier. Refreshments are served to anyone who attends.

The band instruments have finally come, so now the band will be started. It's rumored that they will have band practice each evening from 8:00 to 9:00. Mr. Nutter will be the band instructor.

The chorus members are going to be singing in town at the high school on December 16th. It will start at 8:00 P.M. They also plan to go caroling in town but no date is set. Refreshments will be served after.

Two new members have joined the chorus, William Hall, and Rose Prince. The chorus members give thanks to Mrs. Lemley for accompanying them during practice insinging.
